

Revolving and orbiting around the sun
Currently, the Lucy Mission has begun
Comprehending the universe
There is no single way
Yet we found a piece of the puzzle for the display
We must make discoveries one by one
By the time you find it, the Lucy mission ends its run
To any future finders
And finders, there will be
We used the mission to search through asteroids and debris
In order to find out how we came to be
We had to probe the depths of our galaxy
Our ancestor, Lucy
Will now truly be a star
As a probe named after her
Drifts from Earth, afar
The information we will know
And hopefully you have already discovered
Will better help us understand one another
Where we are from
And how we came to exist
Will help all future generations persist
Persist to find a better answer

Persist to create

For that is the true outcome of the human fate
